

B. Rapid Transition to Renewables

Whereas the science is clear that we must rapidly reduce our use of fossil fuels to protect our kids and grandkids from danger due to climate disruption

And whereas, the transition to an all-renewable energy economy presents a great opportunity for creation of good paying local jobs, a more sustainable economy, and a society that is more equitable and just,

Therefore be it resolved that the Minnesota _____ party, and its candidates and office holders commit to support policies that rapidly expand renewable energy and put Minnesota on a path to reduce greenhouse gas emissions by at least 80% by 2050, and in accord with this, support policies that limit large scale new fossil fuel infrastructure development to only those projects that are necessary within the framework of fastest feasible transition to an all renewable economy.
